

ABSTRACT

A system and method for integrating a desk sharing application with a 5 PBX telephonic user identity and feature transfer function is described. The system and method of the invention utilizes the PBX's administrative interface to transfer attributes from a dedicated device to the shared telephone device within an ECP network.